AROMA THERAPY OILS

AROMAS NATURALS has created a line of environmental air freshening diffuser jars made with essential oils. Use them everywhere, at home, office, car.....!

The diffuser's sponge is made of biodegradable fibers. This makes a perfect air freshener which duration may vary from 4 to 6 months depending on the atmospheric conditions and the volatility of certain aromatic molecules. For example: eucalyptus, lemon and orange are the most volatile.

Easy to use, just breathe in! You will benefit of the advantages by the evaporation and diffusion made naturally. Make sure you open the jar carefully not to spill the liquid and keep it out of children's reach.

An integral, environmental friendly product manufactured in accordance to the EEC, USA and IFRA & RIFM regulations. International Certificate ISO 9001.

AROMAS NATURALS congratulates you for your decision on making positive changes in your lifestyle. We are pleased to present you the 112-gr jar offered in a variety of 16 comforting essences. To some extent, anyone can be an aroma- therapist. From the beauticians who use botanicals and essential oils in their cosmetics, to family members using Eucalyptus in various rubs for colds.

Now you too can change the mood of your environment simply by opening an AROMAS NATURALS diffuser jar, to fragrance the room of your choice.

The use of essential oils is not recommended during pregnancy. (Especially Rosemary)

REGULATE MOOD THROUGH INHALATION.

Aromatherapy is an ancient science that uses essential oils in therapy by inhalation. This practice has been used since the day our ancestors understood the benefits of breathing different fragrances in their fields. Smell is the only sense that reaches the brain faster than blood does.

Every scent is perceived directly to the brain via the olfactory nerve. This nerve is connected through the nasal cavity, to the olfactory bulb and the limbic system of the brain. In fact, the brain is the center of emotions and memory and it registers aromas twice as fast as it does pain. This is why the inhalation of aromas can so powerfully transform your emotions.

- ❖ Scientific studies prove that inhaling certain aromas can immediately affect the central nervous system.
- ❖ International research suggests that aromatherapy can increase productivity, memory and relaxation.
- ❖ Aroma-therapeutic products can benefit you by creating positive feelings that influence physical changes in the body.

Timeless Holistic Healing Method (By inhalation only) Inhalation of specific aromatic molecules of certain essential oils is an effective way to treat nose, throat and lung ailment. Their solubility in the air makes it easy to be inhaled so the biochemical properties of the aromatic molecules easily reach the bronchial system. Those molecules provoke the expectoration of the bronchial secretions therefore relieving congestion of the bronchi.
